CHARLEROI PEOPLE MAY WORK ON SPEERS ROAD

Movement Growing in That Direction For Good Roads' Day

HIGHWAY IMPASSABLE

Necessary to Go by Roundabout Way to Reach Up River Town

Charleroi citizens will probably be asked to turn their attention to the road between Speers and Charleroi when Good Roads Day is observed in Washington county on May 26. At least that is the sentiment that is growing in Charleroi among those interested in the good roads movement. The Speers road is at present in a nearly impassable condition.

Burgess S. L. Woodward today is making a proclamation in which the earnest co-operation of Charleroi people is urged in the movement for better roads and for the observance of good roads' day. Community Club No. 1 discussed the proposal to some extent at their meeting Friday evening.

In other directions than in Speers it is stated the roads are in fairly good repair. To get to Speers the safe way at present for drivers of vehicles is to travel to North Charleroi, cross the bridge to the Westmoreland county side, go over the river or hill road to Belle Vernon and cross the river bridge back of Speers. This is a route that is very much like the old method of going to Pittsburgh to get to Washington, the county seat.

It has been suggested that an effort be made to put the road between Charleroi and Speers in shape for summer travel. That is the matter that will claim the attention of Charleroi people in the observance of Good Roads Day.

FALLS HEAD FIRST THROUGH GLASS AND ESCAPES UNINJURED

When he fell against the glass case in front of Piper's pharmacy and his head broke through the glass, Cecil Richey, a young man of high school age had a narrow escape from serious injury. He and another boy were scuffling on the street when they stumbled and Richey banged head first into the glass case. A hole was made just about large enough for his head. The glass had to be broken further before he could be extricated from his predicament.

CHARLEROI GGS GET BRAND NEW UNIFORMS

Members of the Charleroi police force have brand new summer uniforms. They are of the regular blue, with a helmet of gray. The uniforms are well made and the police present a natty appearance wearing them.

Probably Coxy thinks he will get enough fame to run for school director in his home ward.

Movies For Charleroi

Pictures of Town Will be Taken For Manager John
Pennman of Lyric

Manager John Pennman of the Lyric theatre has made arrangements for the taking of moving pictures in Charleroi and for the production of them at his theatre. The pictures will be taken on next Tuesday and will be produced all the week of May 18.

The Pittsburgh Motion Picture company will take the pictures in Charleroi and all points of interest in Charleroi will be included in the list of objects that will be thus described. Workings of the various stores and industries are things that will likely claim attention of the moving picture men.

RAILROAD WILL NOT MEDIATE

Striking Trainmen Must

for Jobs

SO STATES MITCHELL

C. Harry Landefeld and James C. Corrin, a committee appointed by Robert H. Robinson, president of the Monongahela chamber of commerce to interview officials of the P. R. R. relative to arranging a meeting of a committee of the striking railroaders of the Monongahela division with the officials of the company, were in Pittsburgh Friday and had a lengthy interview with Superintendent A. G. Mitchell and went over the entire situation.

Superintendent Mitchell emphatically stated that the company would not meet a committee from the strikers, but was willing to meet the men individually. He stated that the strike was illegal and had not been sanctioned by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; that the men had all been asked to come back and he had talked to many of them personally; that they had been given 24 hours in which to report for work, and had refused to accept therefore the company had filled the vacancies.

Mr. Mitchell stated that at the present time there were 669 men working on the Monongahela division which is five more than when the strike started. Most of these men are members of the order of Railroad Trainmen.

Mr. Mitchell stated that he bore no ill feeling towards the men, but the company positively would not meet a committee from the strikers, but as

CHARLEROI NOW THE CENTER OF STRIKES

Three Different Classes of Employees Off Duty
--Plumbers Ask Increase of From $4.50 to $5.00 Per Day

Charleroi seems to be the center of strikes at the present time. The conductors and motormen on the Westside Electric Street Railways lines and the Webster, Monessen, Belle Vernon and Fayette City Street Railways line have been on strike now ten days. On Friday the plumbers of Charleroi and vicinity and the tanners went on strike.

Plumbers from several shops quit work when their demand of an increase in pay of from $4.50 a day to $5 a day was generally refused. From 30 to 40 of them are out. Tanners went on strike to secure an increase of from 50 cents an hour to 55 cents an hour. There are not more than 15 tanners on strike at present but most of the tin shops in the immediate vicinity are more or less idle.

SEEK MAN WHOM FORTUNE AWAITS

An inheritance of some proportions awaits Sam Jones, formerly of Monessen, in Wales, if the man can be located. Following is a letter that has been written to the Monessen registrar of births and deaths in Monessen:

To the Registrar of Births and Deaths, Monessen, Pa.

Dear Sir:

I shall esteem it a great favor if you can give me some account of a man named Sam Jones who used to board with D. S. Williams (Spuz Boy) Schoonmaker avenue. Monessen. I should say that Jones was about 45 years of age when he left Glanely, South Wales, about 15 years ago. He was a furnaceman in the Tin and Sheet mills. We have not heard from him for years. I may say that there is some property left him in Ystalyfera, South Wales, where he was born. If you could furnish me with any news of him, I shall be extremely obliged. Thanking you in anticipation. I am

LOCAL MAN DIES IN WEST VIRGINIA

Albert DePasse, aged 24 years, who until a year ago was a resident of Charleroi, died at Sistersville, W. Va. suddenly Thursday. He was the son of Leon DePasse, of 629 Fallowfield avenue.

Mr. DePasse and his family moved to Sistersville about a year ago and they have been living there since. His widow and two children survive, together with his parents. The body was brought home this afternoon and prepared for burial Sunday afternoon.

PROPERTY MATTERS CLAIM ATTENTION OF PENNSY SYSTEM

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co., through its counsel at Washington has started action for the possession of certain properties in the borough of Elco and East Pike Run township. Writs of "habere facias possessionem" have been issued in each case. The parties upon whom the writs are served are John Boise, Monga Land Co., John G. Lowes, Monon. R. C. & C. Co., and John Gunther. All the properties are in Elco except that of the

TO PLAY GAME AS BENEFIT

Arrangements Being Made for Playgrounds Struggle by Governors

NEW MEN ARE SIGNED

One of the first exhibition baseball games that will be played in Charleroi this year will be for the benefit of the Charleroi playgrounds. The game will be on May 11 and will be between the Regulars and the Yanigans of Wreath's Governors. President Wreath has canceled a date out of town for an exhibition game in order that he may play the playgrounds' benefit game here.

On Saturday May 16 the Monongahela Independent baseball club will play an independent game on the Charleroi ground. By this date Manager Hank O'Day will have his team in good shape and the personnel of the nine to make the fight in the Pawva league about decided upon. So that the struggle will be a good one.

Upon recommendation of Hans Lobert, the Philadelphia third sacker, a man by the name of L. F. Mertz evidently from Beltszhoover, has been asked to report to Manager O'Day on next Wednesday. Mertz is a big man who is a catcher and outfielder.

Manager O'Day has received a letter from Christy Kearns, who is at present with the Trenton, N. J. Tri State league team. Kearns writes that big leaguers are being shipped to Trenton for the team and he anticipates that he will be dropped from the roster. In that event he asks O'Day to give him a job. Kearns was named as one of the regulars on the Trenton team by a Trenton paper. O'Day says he is a star pitcher.

Pleas of Nolle Conten-dere Entered With the County Court

SENTENCES NEXT WEEK

Accused Members to Hear Result Soon--Has a Far Reaching Effect

Several stewards of fraternal orders in this county which conduct sideboards where intoxicating liquors are dispensed, through their counsels went before Judge J. A. McIlvaine late Friday afternoon and entered pleas of nolle contended, which means no defense. The stewards were arrested several weeks ago on charges of violating the liquor laws.

The defendants are Frank O'Brien steward of the Washington order, Fraternal Order of Bears; Louis Vandever of the Order of Owls in the Phoenix row building, at Washington; J. Burgard of the Loyal Order of Moose, Washington; Edward Holmes of the Royal Order Lions, Washington; George Fenton, of the Bears at Meadowslands; John Cozner, of the Moose, California; Matthew Hunter, of the Owls at Midland No. 1 and L. D. Cornell of the Eagles, California.

The entering of these pleas means that none of the cases will be presented to the grand jury at its sitting the coming week. Many witnesses were subpoenaed and none of these will be required to be present. This will reduce the costs in the cases considerably. It had been expected that all would be laid before the grand jury and in case of true bills being found would be tried at the May term of criminal court, which will be convened one week from Monday. The disposition of them will reduce the trial list materially.

No sentences have been pronounced in any of these cases. The pleas were simply entered and they will be finally disposed of the coming week. All witnesses will be stopped.

The outcome of these prosecutions means that these orders will have to cease dispensing intoxicating liquors.

In addition to these club cases pleas of guilty were entered by Sophia Heckler, George Orris and Youke Powth charged with selling liquor without license at Daisytown. The stuff they dispensed was an intoxicating cider mixed with Jamaica ginger. The court agreed to parole each, upon the payment of costs and the agreement not to have. Keep or sell any more intoxicants on their premises, especially this cider and Jamaica ginger combination. These defendants were all arrested at the time the club stewards were gathered in.

Two other defendants, arrested at the time the clubs were under fire were I. Bonardi and John Nogode, both of Midway. They have also entered pleas of nolle contended and their cases continued to the August term for final disposition. They gave bail for their appearance at that time.

WAR CLOUDS LIFTING
According to the weekly letter of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., the time gained by efforts toward mediation between Mexico and the United States is of priceless value. It gives opportunity for overheated feelings to subside as well as for sober second thought to assert itself among all concerned. Huerta no doubt realizes that the United States is in earnest. So, too, must Carranza and Villa. War would mean an end to the political ambitions of all three.
The way is apparently now opening for Huerta, the chief cause of difficulty to withdraw if a fair opportunity is inevitable. His personal liberty would be in peril; also his life and property, which he can best assure by withdrawing. He now has the choice of either surrendering his political ambitions and preserving his liberty and property or going to war and possibly losing all three.

It would seem as if he would certainly choose the former, especially if his exit is permitted without humiliation. It would be premature to assume that the Mexican difficulty is ended. One dangerous crisis has been passed, but other hitches must be expected in the long negotiations which are still in prospect: Mexican evils being altogether too deep to permit an immediate solution. Out of the muddle of the past few weeks a few controlling facts are gradually becoming more clear. The first is the United States is overwhelmingly opposed to war. The second is the Administration at Washington has opened the door to mediation. The third is that European Powers directly interested are at one with the United States. The fourth is the entry of the A. B. C. Powers in South Americau (Argentina, Brazil and Chili) as a factor in the international policy of the Pan-American Republics.
Their inclusion in the negotiations will in all probability be helpful.

It will help soften the suspicions of the South American Republics toward the United States and it will gratify South American ambitions to be considered as of importance in the family of nations. It will certainly be good policy for the United States to consider any friendly suggestions coming from that quarter; while Mexico will have the advantage of securing sympathetic advisers.

INFLUENCE OF GREAT TRUTHS
An exchange uses this language concerning a public man, whom it commends:

"He has an understanding of fundamental principles and is therefore qualified to distinguish between measures which will and those which will not destroy the evils against which they are aimed." That is fairly and truthfully said, declares the Ohio State Journal. The great majority of people are not so. They make up their minds from mere incidents and from standpoints that give no outlook and thus they injure the country and community. Such people have no idea there are such things as fundamental principles. They judge all duty from trifling circumstances that affect themselves only. Great, generous ideas do not control. Impudent sophistry so easily captures the public attention.

The fact is that argument is so much abused that it hurts more than it benefits. There have been men who bought up an opponent and thought they won; but this is no worse than winning on a false and baseless argument. So prevalent is this situation that many people hold to the idea that truth is the final conclusion of controversy and there is something in it, if we do not care for the cost of the conflict. But the conclusion does not involve all that is important, for the effect of a false and selfish argument on the man who makes it is always disastrous and the man hurts himself and his cause who wins by anything less than a great truth.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

Nine players on a West Virginia ball team have only 12 legs among them, but that's nothing. Manager O'Day of the Governors says he has had nine players on a team and no heads.
Bob Coyle at the Coyle theatre had a circus and there wasn't a kid in town sneaked under the tent.
Geraldine Farrar says that voices in America are high pitched. Yes, at $5 a pitch they are exceedingly high pitched.

Vincent Astor, married at the age of 21 years, is worth $85,000,000. And yet thing of the many men who think they were rich with $5 cents.

The Kaiser foots a bill of about $1,000 a year for cigars for his personal use. He has a right to complain of the smoke nuisance.

Villa's name is pronounced Veelyah. With a little extra effort it could easily be called Villian, but that wouldn't be nice.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Manager Charles O'Day of the Charleroi Governors knows through his scouting duties various members of the Detroit Tigers of the American league, including the famous Ty Cobb.
He describe Cobb as a man of nervous temperament, and a man who is giving more or less to peculiarities growing out of his temperamental and tempestuous disposition.
"Cobb is not a ball player of the usual type," says O'Day. "Hughey Jennings knows to leave Cobb alone.
Realizing that Cobb will play only in Cobb's way and knowing that to suggest a better method of play would only serve to cause friction.
"An evidence of the peculiar notions Cobb may take on the spur of the moment I remember of one instance. I was sitting in the club house after an exhibition game waiting to see Jennings. The players get the proceeds of exhibition games and Jennings asked me if I could wait a moment until he divided the sum among the players. There was just enough money so that the players not counting the secretary of the club would receive each about 42.
"Boys," said Jennings. "Shall we give the club secretary his share or shall we just count the players as being in on this."
"Give him his share," they nearly all responded heartily.
"Then Cobb spoke up quietly enough. He said, 'I am working for Ty Cobb, and when Ty Cobb plays ball, Ty Cobb expects to get what is coming to him.'
"The result of the whole transaction was that all the players excepting Cobb gave from their share to make up the secretary's share. Cobb would not, though the total he would thus lose would only aggregate $2. I suppose there was a little bad blood between the secretary and Cobb that caused that action, though I do not know. What made the affair seem more peculiar is the fact that Cobb's wife was paying $250 for her wash-woman."

"One day I sat in the box with President Nixon of Detroit watching a game," says Manager O'Day. Cobb came to bat. He got on first. The next batter up was to play the hit and run game and was to hit the first one. The moment the ball left the pitcher's hand Cobb was flying like a shot to second. Into the bag he slid.

"Sam Crawford came to bat and the same play was signaled." Sam whiffed at the first one. Cobb, however, was off toward third as though fired from a Gatling gun.
Safely into the base he slid. Crawford then popped out.

"There were two outs when pitcher Bailey for the opposing team got the batter in a hole. We could see Cobb chafing on third. He secured a big lead.

"Nevin watched him admiringly.
'Cobb will steal that base,' he said.
The catcher received the ball from the pitcher. Then there was a flash, and almost before the words were out of the president's mouth Cobb was sliding safely into home plate."

"He stole second, third and home and tied the score 1 to 1. Then in the thirteenth inning Detroit won the game."

FINANCIAL PANIC OF 1837 Year That Many Banks Failed and Specie Payments Were Practically Entirely Suspended.

Political rancor was at its height when Andrew Jackson vetoed the bill renewing the charter of the United States bank and removed the treasury deposits, under which opposition the bank collapsed and a vast number of state banks competed for the business, which included the issue of bank notes. In 1837 there were 634 banks, with an aggregate capital of $291, 000,000.

In the history of banking the year of 1837 is prominent for one of the worst panics that was ever known in America, which resulted in the failure of many banks and a universal suspension of specie payments throughout the country, which were not renewed until over a year and a half later, says the National Magazine. During this trying period, when banking operations were practically wiped out of existence, all the banks but three continued doing business in Boston. There were temporary suspensions of specie payments in 1857, known as the panic of '57; also in '61, when Boston followed the lead of New York, since it was evident that further attempt to tide the popular panic would mean ruin to all the interests involved.
There are men still living today who remember with a shudder the trying times of '37, when the merchants met in the Boston merchant's exchange day after day, insisting that the banks must be sustained; until finally Amasa Walker rose up and said: "Gentlemen, the banks must suspend specie payments. There is no other course to be followed." There were murmurs of discontent and they were almost ready to lynch the ex-governor of the commonwealth for the bold position he had taken, but he faced them courageously, and next came the news of the suspension of the New York banks.

CURIOS FROM SOUTH POLE
Geologists and Students of World Physics Welcome Collection Recently Received in England.

Representative selection from the various objects brought home by the scientific staff attached to the Scott Antarctic expedition is now on exhibition at the British Natural History museum, South Kensington. The objects include the rock fragments brought back to within 11 miles of One Ton depot by Dr. Wilson. These fragments are from Buckley island, or Mount Buckley, which appears out of the ice cap where the glacier begins to descend toward the barrier ice.
This "island" as it were parts the stream of ice. There appear to be other summits entirely buried beneath the ice stream. The fragments "all us of warm weather conditions, of Devonian fishes which swam gaily in the waters of a remote period when the polar area was far different from what it is now. These fragments are of the highest importance to geologists and students of world physics.
Among other interesting objects is the skin of a young Weddell seal. The fur is of an attractive light brown color. The birds brought home by the expedition are not yet stuffed. One is a very fine emperor penguin, whose breast feathers glisten under the electric light. A gray-headed mollymauk is another fine bird. The only known insect (wingless) proper to the Antarctic is also shown. There are two sponges from the ice seas of Antarctics.

Not Sam's Fault.
Sam Snedeker, the commissary man, and held in the community to be a good churchman, annoyed the minister extremely by getting up and walking out of the church while the sermon was in progress. The preacher spoke to Sam about it.

"It isn't my fault, doc," Sam protested. "It's a sort of affliction I got."
The preacher told Sam he'd better see the camp doctor. A few days later the preacher met the doctor.
"Did Sam Snedeker come to you for advice?" asked the preacher.
"Yes," said the doctor, "but I told Sam I couldn't do anything for him."
"Was that Sam's affliction?"
"A affliction! He didn't say anything about that. Sam said he'd been troubling you by walking in his sleep." New York Post.

When She Moved.
"It requires courage to complain of a woman's hat if it inconveniences you ever so much," says a London Chronicle writer. "Most of us suffer silently, but I saw a brave man one morning on a tram car, who called the conductor's attention to a plume which kept jabbing him in the eye.
The conductor suggested he should move, but the man objected on principle, and the woman declined to stir.
A scene seemed imminent, when the conductor whispered to her, 'You should always oblige a gentleman.' She appreciated the humor, and took a seat with a vacancy on either side."

He Knew.
Charles S. Meilen, at a dinner in Boston, said of a bankrupt:
"His bankruptcy was like that which the parent described.
"Pa, what's a bankruptcy?" a little boy once asked.

Advertising

THERE once was an assumption that men who advertised were fraudulent in their intents, hence arose the idea that advertising was unethical and this fallacy still obtains in the traditions of a few certain societies and professions.

COMMONSENSE people all now recognize the value of letting the public know who you are, and what you have to offer in the world in the way of commodity or service.

WHEN we speak of advertising we speak of the most powerful force that acts today in the world of business.

THE American people form by all odds the best educated and most open-minded public in the world. All they want is the truth, and when get that, they act clearly, logically and some times with surprising speed.

THE public wants to know the facts. It wants the facts about a kind of shoe or a brand of flour. It wants to know the kind of stuff that goes into a suit of clothes or a package of crackers.

The One Thing Above All Others The Public Demands is Publicity

IT has learned to be very skeptical about any event that occurs in the dark.

DO not keep your light under a bushel and create the opinion that you are no longer in business. Let the people know what you have to offer to them.

CHURCH FRIEND LAUDS PENROSE

Rev. Dr. J. Gray Bolton, of Philadelphia, Warmly Indorses Senior Senator.

RESENTS UNJUST ATTACKS

Germantown Manufacturers and Employers Sign Statement Giving Their Reasons For Advocating His Renomination and Re-election.

Philadelphia, April 28—Everett H. Brown, president of the Wister Spinning company, which is one of the largest manufacturing concerns in Philadelphia, gave out today a formal declaration in favor of the renomination and re-election of Senator Penrose signed by thirty manufacturers and employers of Germantown.

"Ours is one of the most progressive sections in the city," said Mr. Brown, "and for that reason we are very keenly interested in the candidacy of Senator Penrose. To our minds, he stands for industrial progress, because he believes in industrial protection and because he is in a better position to obtain industrial protection for the manufacturers and wage earners and farmers of Pennsylvania than any other man in the state."

Following is the declaration Mr. Brown authorized:

"We, the undersigned manufacturers of Germantown, believing that our interests and the interests of our employees are bound up in the policies of protective tariff, do hereby endorse the candidacy of United States Senator Penrose for renomination and re-election, because

"1. He is without question the foremost protectionist in this country today.

"2. He possesses in addition to natural ability the power which comes only from long service in the senate and the prestige of seniority.

"3. He is the ranking member of the Committee on Finance and a member of the Committee on Naval Affairs, and he is in a position to do more for Pennsylvania and for Philadelphia than any other man who might be elected to succeed him, regardless of his intellectual qualifications or his party affiliations.

"4. Senator Penrose has been faithful, honest and untiring in his service of the people, and he has stood firmly for labor and industry throughout his career in Washington.

"We would look upon his retirement at this time as a blow to the standing of Pennsylvania in the national capital which is entirely unnecessary and uncalled for."

Clergyman Defends Penrose.

An article on Senator Penrose's public service by a prominent minister of Philadelphia has attracted much attention here. It was written for the Philadelphia Public Ledger by Rev. J. Gray Bolton, D. D., pastor of the Hope Presbyterian church, of this city, and a personal acquaintance of Senator Penrose. It is as follows:

"It was my good fortune to have as the superintendent of my Sunday school William S. Blights, an honored elder of the Presbyterian church, as good and true as ever lived. He often spoke to me about 'Boies,' his nephew, of whom he was justly proud. He was fighting a battle at the state capitol against the building commission appointed to erect the public buildings in Philadelphia.

Knows His Record.

"I am familiar with his official record at the state capital for sixteen years, and also his record at the national capital as senior senator from Pennsylvania for eighteen years. This record is published and accessible to all the citizens of this state. I fail to find a vote cast by Senator Penrose that is not in favor of the home, the church, the Sabbath and all the Christian institutions and constitution of our country. I also find that he has been constant and faithful in protecting and fostering the industries of the state and nation. I find his voice and vote always in favor of the protection of labor and whatever lessens the burdens and aids in the betterment of wage-earners, whether they are men, women or children. But Senator Penrose has not only voted to protect the American market for the American product, but also to protect the health and wages of men, women and children in the mines and mills and factories. In 1885, when Senator Penrose entered the state legislature, organized labor was in its birth throes. Penrose was its friend. Ask the labor leaders of that time what service Senator Penrose rendered in the passage of the factory inspection act. Ask who consulted the labor committee and had an act passed that demanded 'cash' in place of 'scrip' to be paid the wage earner, and put the 'ol' me' stores out of commission. Ask who was the champion of child labor reform at Harrisburg; hear from Penrose himself. The enactment of this law, he said, 'will now prevent children from working in mines, factories and stores before the young bones are matured, their young muscles fully developed, and their young brains fit for study.'

Recognized as "Fit"

"I have also examined his record at the capital of the United States. What do I find there? He is recognized as fit for service on the most important committees. He rendered most effective service for the country as chairman of the Immigration Committee. He urged an investigation of the whole system of immigration, and found that our working men were threatened by a competition which would deprive them of comfort, of home and family and drive them to the poverty and wretched squalor of the East. The investigation was heard—the official of the Immigration service, representatives of labor organizations and the managers of the steamship lines. The result was a bill prepared by Senator Penrose in harmony with the views of organized labor, which met great opposition, but the facts were so carefully gathered and ably presented by Senator Penrose that it became a law. Organized labor was represented and consulted in this great achievement for the working men of the United States.

"This work being done, and well done, the senator was put at the head of the largest industry operated by the government, postoffices and post roads, and for ten years he rendered efficient service. It was under his direction that a congressional investigation committee was appointed, and for nearly two years every branch of the postoffice was looked into and revised. Conferences with the postmasters and other officials furnished the basis of facts which led to the practical reorganization of the whole postal system; certain bureaus were discontinued, unnecessary postal stations closed and new stations opened, and due economy in the expenditure of appropriations. The underpaid officials were allowed to state their grievances, and the result was better compensation for service. He gave the working man an open field and a fair chance.

Friend of Laboring Man.

"I find that Senator Penrose's voice and vote has been used for the working man in the dark recesses of the mines, as well as for those employed in the factories, railroads and industrial plants of our country. I have some knowledge of the conditions of the working man, not only in this country, but in others. I have sat with him in their counsels, and spoke for them on the platform. I have heard their troubles in my parish for thirty-nine years, and have seen many of my boys and girls rise from poorhomes to positions of useful service in our city. It is a pleasure to see them in positions of honorable service, and returning from their duties as good citizens to homes of comfort and even luxury. This was possible under our present system of government. I now say to the man that would lay the axe to the root of the tree: Consider well the constitutions and institutions which have sheltered us so well before you chop them down. We need some liberal men and some radical men at the front, but surely need some conservative men, who will save the ship of state from running against a rock. We know Senator Penrose, and what he has done for state and nation, but we do not know of any service for state or nation rendered by the men who seek his place that would hardly justify us in voting for a change. I would be wise to test the changes already made before we introduce more experiments. Seattle is having sufficient changes of mayor to gratify the most restless. When all other officials are subject to recall, from judgment, the initiative and referendum are in full blast, politics will be the only business in active operation."

HELP SAVE THE Republican Party

J. Benjamin Dimmick

Candidate for Nomination for U. S. Senator

AT THE

Primaries, May 19th

Why I Entered This Fight

I recognize that the disastrous split in the Republican Party was the result of a Political System known over the whole country as PENROSEISM.

I am convinced that the Republican Party can and should be reunited.

But Senator Boise Penrose—THE MAN WHO WRECKED THE REPUBLICAN PARTY—should not and will not be trusted to reconstruct it!

I believe the people of Pennsylvania will support a real Republican, who is opposed to PENROSEISM.

I believe in the great Republican principles—the principles that have been the basis of Republican success in the past.

I am a real Republican! I believe all the best features of the new progressive spirit ought to be incorporated in the Republican Party, and I offer my service to bring about this condition.

A Vote for Dimmick May 19th, is a Vote Against Penrose and Boss Rule

Advantages of a Checking Account

Do you know that 90 per cent of commercial transactions are made without the exchange of actual cash? This is for the two great reasons—Safety and Efficiency. And these two reasons apply as well to the modest business as to big Wall street operations. When you give your check you do not waste one moment counting money.

Of greater importance is the fact that your check automatically gives you a receipt.

GRADUATES AT BEALLSVILLE GET DIPLOMAS

The annual commencement of the Beallsville high school was held Friday evening in the Methodist Episcopal church, the building being crowded to capacity for the occasion. The class day exercises in the afternoon also attracted a big crowd.

The commencement lecture was given by Rev. Charles L. E. Cartwright of Turtle Creek. His subject was "You and Yours" and his address was of a most practical nature. The diplomas were presented to the members of the graduating class by Principal R. Edward Knarr. The church auditorium was attractively decorated in the class colors, green and white and music for both afternoon and evening was furnished by the Wheeler orchestra of Charleroi.

At the class day exercises this afternoon the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. John W. King. The salutatory was given by Jesse W. Blair who also distributed the gifts to the graduates. Donald Grover made the president's address to the undergraduates and responses were made by Marguerite Kinder for the juniors and Kenneth John for the freshmen. Lois Keegan gave the history and prophecy for the class and also pronounced the valedictory. The class diary was read by Mary Keegan who also presented the class poem.

LICENSE CHANGES EFFECTIVE WITH COURT DECISION

The liquor license held by A. M. Gregg and W. W. Reed, at Hotel Indiana, at Donora, was transferred Friday to W. W. Reed. Mr. Gregg retiring from the business. The petition was filed a few days ago and Friday was set as the time for the hearing. There was no opposition to the transfer, and the hearing was a mere formal one. Friday was beginning of license year. George M. Fellows, who has held a license at the Myford hotel closed his bar Thursday night, being refused at the last term of license court. The saloon of Thomas Madison at Millsboro, and of John E. Turner at Stockdale, also went out of business Thursday. A. H. Furlong reopened his bar at his hotel at Roscoe. He was refused a license a year ago. He simply shut the room up and considerable of his stock he permitted to remain there, so that beginning Friday he can dispose of it.

SUPT. CRUMRINE TELLS DIRECTORS ABOUT HIS WORK

County Superintendent of the Public Schools L. R. Crumrine has just sent a letter to the school directors of the county announcing his candidacy for another term.

Among other things he says: "Since my first year as superintendent, the number of schools has increased from 640 to 823. Five hundred fifty is the maximum number of schools I have visited in any one year a number never equaled in this county. Six high schools have been established. Many fine, commodious school buildings have been erected and others improved and enlarged. "Several innovations have been introduced that have aided in giving the schools their present active and accepted high standing. The school of methods held prior to the opening of the school term, has been the greatest stimulus ever provided for our teaching force. Corn clubs and home and school associations have been organized. Certificates of award for perfect attendance were granted to 1,000 pupils last year. The county institute has reached a standard with a higher purpose and greater utility. The standard for securing certificates has been raised and sustained by a growing demand for better teachers.

Plenty More Like This in Charleroi Scores of Charleroi people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Mrs. Louis Velletay, 205 Prospect avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "I had been troubled for years with dropsical swellings in my feet and ankles and I found it hard to get around. I also had a dull, heavy pain in the small of my back and I couldn't do my housework. I seemed to be worse in the morning and often got so sore that I couldn't bend. Rheumatic pains darted throughout my body and I felt tired all the time. I doctored but got no relief and when I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply at Piper's Pharmacy. Two boxes relieved me. I now take Doan's Kidney Pills on and on when I am not feeling well and they never fail to help me."
